For divers wishing to discover a relatively unknown dive destination with added adventure, Saudi Arabia may be just the place. Whether day boat or liveaboard diving, few other vessels, and probably no divers other than fellow travellers are encountered. Unexplored can be an overused word, but the sheer variety and volume of Saudi Arabia's reef systems cannot be underestimated! Join pioneering divers and explore virtually untouched dive sites in this fascinating country.

For those wanting to truly kick back and relax, Siddhartha Dive Resort & Spa in Bali provides a fabulous informal setting in which to unwind. This luxurious resort set in extensive tropical gardens fuses the best of Balinese and Western design. The Siddhartha Dive Resort & Spa is situated directly on the beach, and is far from Bali's tourist hotspots. Diving is well organised and impressive – from the stunning house reef to Bali's top dive sites such as Tulamben, Nusa Penida and Secret Bay.

Shark Bay Cleans Up Nicely

THE REEFS at Sharks Bay, Sharm El Sheikh became a whole lot cleaner on September 19 in aid of the International Clean up Day.

Sharks Bay Umbi Diving Village together with three local dive centres came together to get involved in the reef and beach clean-up. Over 30 staff and guests had a fun and rewarding day collecting 12 large bags of rubbish from the reef including several old tractor tyres.

Representatives from the Chamber of Diving and Watersports (CDWS) and the National Parks of Egypt thanked the divers for all their hard work which was rewarded at the end of the day with a fantastic cake made by our favourite chef; Osama from Freedom VIII!

We plan to have our next Sharks Bay clean-up in February in readiness for the next season.

If you would like to be there to help visit: www.oonasdivers.com for more information.
