As a diver, I the undersigned wish to object to the proposed siting of the Fish Farm by Wester Ross Salmon, either side of the anchorage in the west corner of Annat Bay. The location is close to the wreck of a fishing boat called the "Fairweather V", which is visited by many local and visiting divers throughout the year. These divers come the length and breadth of Britain, even from Belgium, to dive the area with the "Fairweather" at the top of their list. The site is unique and would be a tragic loss if the plans were allowed to go ahead.

I am concerned that:

- Effluent from the fish pens will drift across the dive site killing off the marine life.
- Chemicals used on the fish will have effects on divers in the water.
- Because of the above divers will not be able to dive safely on the wreck.
- Diver tourism will be affected losing valuable income to the area.
